Interior Design Program

Programming

DSWP100

Belvedere will conduct an analysis and evaluation of the personal, aesthetic and functional goals and objectives of the client for the design project. This includes user, activity, furnishings, equipment, space requirements and organizational relationships. A written design program, the foundation for the successful design project, is provided to the client.

Schematic Design

DSCP200

Prerequisite DSWP100. Based on the approval of the written design program, Belvedere will provide a preliminary floor plan showing partition, furnishings and other pertinent planning ideas. In addition, Belvedere will prepare conceptual color samples, research types and qualities of materials, finishes and furniture such as (but not limited to) paint, flooring, lighting, wall-covering, textiles, fabrics and equipment to establish the overall design concept.

Design Development

DSIL300

Prerequisite DSCP200. Belvedere will provide the client with a finalized floor plan showing partition and door locations, furniture and fixture layout, elevations if applicable, and any other drawings sufficient to describe the character of the interior. In addition, Belvedere will fine-tune the overall design concept to describe the detail of the interior design. This includes location of wall, floor and ceiling finishes, details, materials and custom cabinet drawings.

Construction Documents

DSCD400

Prerequisite DSIL300. Belvedere will provide the client a set of interior construction documents, which will include a floor plan, furniture and equipment plan, telephone and power plan, lighting plan, finish plan, a plumbing plan and any other details necessary to set forth the requirements for the interior design construction. This does not include architectural and engineering drawings required by agencies for approvals necessary to commence construction. Drawings for these services are sold separately.

General notes:

Each of the above phases of design must be purchased in sequence, on an individual basis. List the above work to be performed under "Scope of Services" in the Design Services Agreement. Send signed and finalized service agreement, client profile and retainer fee to Belvedere Interior Design Group, attention to the Project Manager Project Manager.

Floor Plan Program

Floor Plan

DSFL100

Belvedere will provide an equipment floor plan design showing partitions and rooms, door locations, furniture layout and fixture layout based on a needs analysis and preliminary equipment list. Up to 2 changes are included.

Plumbing Plan

DSEL200

Prerequisite DSFL100. Based on the approval of the floor plan, Belvedere will provide the client with a plumbing plan to show water line and drain locations and plumbing specifications for Belvedere equipment. This does not include architectural and engineering drawings required by agencies for approvals necessary to commence construction. Drawings for these services are sold separately.

Electrical Plan

DSEL300

Prerequisite DSFL100. Based on the approval of the floor plan, Belvedere will provide the client with an electrical plan to show power requirements and locations and electrical specifications for Belvedere equipment. This does not include architectural and engineering drawings required by agencies for approvals necessary to commence construction. Drawings for these services are sold separately.

Architectural Service

Site Survey

THG000

An optional field survey is provided, which consists of researching, assembling, reviewing and supplementing information involving alterations to the existing facility. The services include photography, field measurements, review of existing design data, analysis of existing structural, mechanical and electrical capabilities, and review of existing drawings for critical inaccuracies. The survey culminates with the development of the required measured drawings.

NOTE: Travel to the site for this service is included in the above pricing for most areas throughout the contiguous US, but not guaranteed. If a site survey is requested, please call to verify if travel is included.

Architectural Construction Documents

THG500

Architectural Construction Documents are developed based upon the approved Design Development and the Interior Construction documents prepared by Belvedere. These drawings and specifications set forth in detail the architectural construction requirements for the project. These drawings, when submitted in conjunction with the appropriate engineering and zoning documents, will be sufficient for building permit and construction. The services will not include permit application, interior design, graphics or signage nor will any construction contract administration services be provided.

Engineering Construction Documents

THG600

The Engineering Documents are developed based upon the approved Design Development and Interior Construction Documents prepared by Belvedere. These services include preparation of mechanical, plumbing, and electrical calculations, drawings, and specifications and the details necessary for agency approvals and building permits. These services will not include structural engineering services or construction contract administration.
